WALLEYE WORLD

DEDICATED TO THE PRESERVATION OF MICHIGAN'S WALLEYE FISHERY (SINCE JULY, 1976)

INVESTING IN OUR FUTURE

Last year we donated over $6000 to MUCC for repairs to their arts and crafts building. Recently I was able to tour the camp and check the progress on the repairs. MUCC was so very thankful for our donation and it was a big part of why we were named affiliate of the year in 2018.

The foundation is now repaired and new drain tiles were places along the outside. New siding is also installed. While I had not seen it in a few years, it does really look like a new building. Water instillation is still in progress. Up until now this building did not have a water line to it.

On the inside, some of the floors have been replaced. In the spring, new windows will be installed to go with the water hook up. Helping out the kid's camp and sending kids to the camp every year is probably one of our most important investments, and one that I am very proud of. The future of our outdoor heritage and way of life, that we sometimes take for granted, needs to be passed from generation to generation. Sadly I do not think this is the case anymore. In today's electronic age, the amount of youth taking part and being exposed to the outdoors is shrinking. It is really important for them, at a bare minimum, to have positive exposure to hunting, fishing, and the outdoors, because one day they might be casting a vote on those very issues. If they have a memory or experience that can influence them, it could help all outdoorsman enjoy what we love to do.

ANGLER OF THE YEAR

Congratulations to our first annual angler of the year, Matt Orlando. Matt had a wonderful derby season as well as winning angler of the year. He also won the Open Division and will be moving to the Masters Division this April. CONGRATULATIONS Matt!! Good luck defending your title in 2019! A lot of guys will be gunning for you.

Veterans Need Volunteers

By Mike Roush

I am planning a day of fishing for some local veterans. Planning on a summer week day, trolling pattern. Time and date to be determined. Please contact me at a meeting or call me if you could give a day to help these veterans. Mike Roush.....810-765-8158

MISSION STATEMENT

To protect, preserve, and promote the walleye fishing in Michigan through conservation, education, and enhancing fishing opportunities for all; celebrating our tradition since 1976.

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. I hope that you had a wonderful Christmas and start to the new year. Spending time with family and friends is priceless, but so many people (myself included) take it for granted. With the new year brings the start of a very busy year for the LSCWA, starting with the Ultimate Fishing Show in Novi. As always, will have a booth and be well represented. To those that are reading this article from a copy of the newsletter that you picked up at the show, hello! I hope you take a minute and consider joining our club if you live in the area or if you live elsewhere in Michigan, maybe joining MUCC. They do a TON of good for people passionate about the outdoors in Michigan and would love your support.

I do not think we can live up to last year's goal of winning MUCC affiliate of the year again, but I do have a more modest goal that I believe is definitely achievable. We currently are at about 270 members. It is my goal to increase club membership to over 300 members in 2019. I would like all members to introduce a non-member to the club, bring them to a meeting, take them fishing, and talk about the good things we do, bring a youth to one of the kid's outings or buy someone a membership as a gift. There are lots of ways we can make it happen. Help make the Lake St. Clair Walleye Association not only the best walleye club in the state, but also the biggest.

As I am writing this, the prospects for a good ice season are not looking promising. Just yesterday it was over 50 degrees. Please don't take chances getting on ice that is not in a safe condition to be on. No fish is worth a life. Take the time to start your spring preparations while we wait for safe ice. Maybe visit one of our sponsors and show them a little love. They are hurting by not having safe ice and I am sure they would love the business.

Finally I would like to say thank you to everyone who helped out last year and made the LSCWA a very successful club last year. We are a volunteer organization and without volunteers, we could not do a lot of what we do. THANK YOU! If you have not helped out at an event, please do so. Not only are you helping the club out, you will also make friends in the process. Last month, I had the honor and privilege of being the best man for Rich at his wedding. We met through the club. This club means WAY more to me than just fishing. I have made lifelong friends which to me, is what this club is all about....oh and eating walleye too.....YUM!

Good fishing,
Tim

WRAPPING UP 2018

By Jeff Vantorre

2018 was a great year on Lake St. Clair-probably one of the best years that I can remember and as far as catching bigger fish to add. Anyone that is anyone knows that in the spring time majority of the guys that fish LSC head over to the Canadian side and fish the Thames river area, Belle Hump, Luke's and so on. Well this year was a little different, early on the weather was so spotty and shifty that you couldn't make the run over to fish that area and if you did, the water was trashed. I focused on the American side. With the May Madness tournament coming up, we had to find a program and find one quickly. But right now, we won't tap too much into last year's May Madness event. We will save that for another time!

Crawlers are king on LSC I don't care what anyone says about that. If you are going out walleye fishing on LSC, 95% of the guys that you talk to are telling you that they are running meat and pulling harnesses and I'm not here to tell you that doesn't work ... it does and it does very well. This year I wanted to focus on catching these fish on Crankbaits. I know that a lot of times guys do not like to run cranks because they don't want to deal with the bass and Muskie, but let me tell you, it's not really that bad if you don't mind the sacrifice of losing a bait here. It can really pay off for you in the long run. One of the biggest benefits of running cranks is covering more water than you would when you run harnesses. Biggest tip that I can give you when running these cranks is speed. Speed is key I was pulling these baits, sometimes as fast as 2.3 - 2.4 SOG finding the edges of huge weed flats and just running my outside offshore planner boards along the edges and triggering the fish to bite.

The crankbaits that I fished the most this past season were Smithwick Top 20's, Rapala DHJ12's, Flicker minnows size 11. These are all pretty big size baits and they produced some pretty good-sized fish, with my biggest this year on LSC just pushing the 9-pound mark. I know that some other members caught fish well into the 7 and 8-pound range as well. Then later in the year, I started to use some deep walleye Bandits and Reef Runner 800's. Other LSCWA members also started to run cranks this year as well. There are some days that they would start off using harnesses and switched over to cranks and upgraded all their fish with bigger ones and this was key during the LSCWA derbies for the 2017 season. The best colors that just were lights out for myself were JT customs Sekya perch, bad girl, huff and puff. Stock color top 20's in black and chrome, purple perch, pretty much anything that was a natural color was the ticket.

The walleye bite was so good on LSC this year for myself and other members as well that myself and BOD member Eric Lenz were blessed to have the opportunity to shoot a short segment on an episode of Michigan Out of Doors with Jenny Olsen and show off what an outstanding walleye fishery we have in our backyard and an AMAZING club that we belong to! If you're member of the LSCWA you are surrounded by the right people to help you make yourself a better walleye fisherman, everyone in this organization is very approachable and will help out anyone that needs it. No question is a dumb question. If you don't think it will work on LSC, it just might!

SEARCH AND DESTROY WINTER WALLEYES

Capt: Brandon Stanton

Team Gunsmoke Sportfishing

A large frozen body of water can be very intimidating, especially if it's a new place you haven't fished before. The first thing to do is find out what the fish are feeding on for the given time of year. A bait shop or locals are an excellent way to find out this sort of information. That way they don't have to give up their favorite fishing hole, but it's not going to be hard to find the general area. If they are feeding on shiners, I would look towards shallows, marinas, and river mouths. If they are feeding on shad or small perch, I would look towards the deeper outer lake, weed beds, or again, river mouths. This will give you a better idea of where to start looking on your lake map for the areas where this certain bait might be holding. Now once you have an area in mind, start looking at the contours of the lake bottom on your lake chart. You want to find the steep drops, rock ledges, the edge or holes in the middle of the weed beds- anywhere a walleye can ambush the bait swimming around in the particular area you chose to fish.

Ok, by now you have a spot all picked out so let's start fishing! We will start by picking our presentations to put some gold on the ice. There are four types of presentations I use when fishing for walleye: spoons, swim baits such as jigging raps, lead heads, and live bait. I want to pick a lure that comes close to the bait they are feeding on. Now I'm not a hole hopper, but when I'm searching for fish, I will move a few times until I find something. The first thing I would do is set a live bait rig such as a slip bobber rod or a tip up because live bait is also an attractant. Once we get that set up, I would rig my jigging stick with a spoon, or a lead head tipped with a shiner or whatever bait you are using. You want a heavy lure at first because you want to be beating that lure in the dirt a lot so the walleye can find you. Walleye have huge lateral lines so they can feel that vibration from a long ways away. Now 20 minutes is my number; if I don't see any activity on my sonar unit in 20 minutes, I will move. If even a couple fish came in to check out my bait, I would say that's pretty good activity. If I had to move, it would not be too far from where I started- 50 yards maybe, but not hundreds of yards because we just spent 20 minutes calling the fish over to us. Just go either direction of the drop or rock ledge that you are fishing. Remember walleye are timed feeders, there are certain times of the day they aggressively feed.

So, now you have found a few fish swimming around, how do we get them to bite? If you catch a couple on the live bait you rigged up, or whatever you're jigging, keep using it. If they are just coming in and looking at your jig, something different needs to be done because they are not feeding heavy yet. Let's start out by doing something different with the bait you are tipping your lure with. Instead of a whole minnow, just use a half or just pinch a head off and use that. You could also switch to a small swim bait such as a small jigging rap, or a spoon with a shape that will let it fall and flutter slower. There are a million different things you could change up with your presentation to get the fish to feed for you. This is pretty much my go-to routine for finding walleye on any body of water. I don't like to just run out to a pack of people and sit in the ice village. I find it more rewarding to find my own fish, and they always feed better away from the crowds and noise. Augers, ATVs, snowmobiles, and even simply walking around spooks the fish. They can feel the vibrations of the ice through the lateral lines on their sides. And always remember to fish with a buddy, and be aware of the ice conditions as they are changing constantly. Safety should always be your number one priority so you can keep enjoying what you love.

NEWS AND NOTES

Michigan United Conservation Clubs Executive Board named MUCC Deputy Director Amy Trotter the next executive director of the organization. Dan Eichinger submitted his resignation and was appointed as the new director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources by Governor-elect Gretchen Whitmer, effective January 1st. He served as MUCC executive director since 2014.

WALLEYE WORLD PODCAST UPDATE

By Rob Barnes

In December 2018 we had 2 great episodes on the Walleye World podcast. The first episode featured our own club members- past President Don Murray and Board of Director's Eric Lenz and Jeff VanTorre. The guys shared some great tips on the fall bite and how to dial in an effective crank bait program for walleyes on the lake. The episode was short but is full of great information to help you grow as an angler.

The second episode featured an interview with Off Shore Tackle pro Erich Carlson about Great Lakes structure fishing for walleyes. Erich competes at the national level of tournament fishing and is a wealth of knowledge. We talked about how to target specific areas of structure to surgically pick off fish by using casting techniques. Additionally, we had a discussion about trolling Off Shore boards to include a few tricks for fishing more efficiently.

January will be a busy month for me personally with my baby boy being born. However, I intend to interview a good friend of mine who is a fishing rod designer to learn about what goes into the design and building a proper jigging stick. I also intend on talking fishing with another great professional angler so stay tuned for more great content.

I would like to thank the club's board of directors and executive directors for making the podcast possible so that we can continue to spread the club's good name and share our passion for walleye fishing throughout Michigan and the rest of the USA. Our club is gaining national attention thanks to the hard work of our leadership!

You can listen to our club's podcast on iTunes with your iPhone or Apple device. Android users can listen through the Google Podcasts app or TuneIn radio. Even your Amazon Alexa enabled devices can play the show by saying, "Alexa, play Walleye World Podcast!"

JANUARY GUEST SPEAKER

By: Eric Lenz

This month's speaker is Michigan's own Ed Stachowski, professional angler. Ed has excelled in all facets of walleye fishing and has fished in national circuits such as the FLW and the National Walleye Tour (NWT). Ed has competed in every National Walleye Tour event since its inception. His accomplishments include 2016 Angler of the Year and Top Ten for all-time career earnings. Ed is a wealth of knowledge for all things walleyes and we look forward to having him speak at our upcoming meeting.

HOTWIRED'S WALLEYE CHEEK CHOWDER

- 1/2 cup chopped onions
- 2 1/2 cups diced potatoes
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1 cup chopped carrots - thin
- 2 tsp. salt
- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup light cream
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 4 slices bacon
- 1 lb of walleye cheeks (cut smaller if desired)

- * Fry bacon & keep drippings
- * Cook potatoes, carrots & celery in 2-3 cups of water until almost tender
- * Cook onions in bacon drippings
- * Add onions, cheeks & crumbled bacon to vegetables and water and simmer
 - 10 minutes, add salt & pepper Tim's note: I substitute old bay seasoning for salt and pepper
- * Stir in milk & cream
- * Bring back to simmer for 30 minutes stirring occasionally

If you want more liquid, add half and half
If you want it thicker, do the gravy corn starch trick
Credit to Curtis on the recipe.
